Donate a new toy and pick up a pair of FREE tickets to the 2011 NCAA Division I Women's Volleyball Championship

SAN ANTONIO, TX -- (Dec. 8, 2011) – San Antonio Sports and AT&T are giving away tickets to next week's 2011 NCAA Division I Women's Volleyball Championship at the Alamodome. All you have to do is donate a new, unwrapped toy to the U.S. Marine Corps Toys for Tots Program at one of five San Antonio AT&T store locations to receive a pair of tickets.

Each toy donor will receive one pair of tickets to either the semifinals on Thursday, Dec. 15, or the championship on Saturday, Dec. 17. Underwritten by AT&T, an NCAA Corporate Champion, the promotion supports both Toys for Tots and the nonprofit host of the championship, San Antonio Sports, the area's local sports commission.

“San Antonio is thrilled to host the women’s college volleyball championship, and to be able to watch it live, would be a once in a lifetime experience,” said Chris Penrose, vice president and general manager for AT&T South Texas. “And to know that your donated toy will help put a smile on the face of a child who otherwise might not get a present for Christmas is extra special.”

This is the second time San Antonio Sports, UTSA and the City of San Antonio have teamed up to host the collegiate women’s volleyball championship. The first was in 2005 when the University of Washington Huskies won the national title. This year, San Antonio Sports is hoping to break the all-time collegiate volleyball attendance record of 17,430.

“We’re grateful to AT&T for making this Toys for Tots donation opportunity available,” said Dr. Susan Blackwood, executive director of San Antonio Sports. “Their partnership will put toys under the tree for deserving children and give toy donors the chance to experience live the best collegiate volleyball athletes fighting for the national title.”
